VOL. LVII., No. 1. NEW YORK, January 6, 1900. WHOLE No. 1458

Two Important New Books.

A HISTORY OF AMERICAN PRIVATEERS.

By EDGAR STANTON MACLAY, A.M.

Author of "A History of the United States Navy." Uniform with "A History of the United States Navy." One volume. Illustrated. 8vo, $3.50.

"A work that will stand probably forever as the standard, as it is thus far practically the only book on its subject. It will give most of us a new, clearer and more comprehensive survey of the elements that went to the making of our Nation, the preservation of its existence in its early days."—New York Mail and Express.

"Mr. Maclay has brought to bear upon a kindred theme the same careful research and the same talent in discriminating narrative displayed in his work, the accepted 'History of the U. S. Navy.' . . . These stories of the privateers as related by Mr. Maclay are as full of romance as anything imagined by the professional writers of romances."—Philadelphia Times.

THE WHITE TERROR.

A Romance. By FELIX GRAS.

Translated from the Provençal by Mrs. CATHARINE A. JANVIER. Uniform with "The Reds of the Midi" and "The Terror." 16mo, $1.50.

"No one has done this kind of work with finer poetic grasp or more convincing truthfulness than Félix Gras. . . . This new volume has the spontaneity, the vividness, the intensity of interest of a great historical romance."—Philadelphia Times.

A January Book Business.

TO THE TRADE.

AS predicted, the book season of 1899 passes into history as "the record season." The season of 1900 will surpass it. We are advised by a number of customers who have heretofore made books a special holiday feature, that it is their purpose to push the sale throughout the coming year. Department stores which failed to gauge the interest in and demand for books have decided to install book departments. As an example of this interest we may state that one large bookstore in New York was forced, within a week of Christmas, to restrict the number of purchasers on the floor.

These facts prove the public's interest in books. The interest will be continued into January, making it an active instead of a dull month. This view is opposed to the traditions of the trade, but the time has arrived to throw away tradition and accept facts.

It is our intention to aid this January sale by special discounts on books ordered during that month. The dealer who is sharp-sighted enough to take advantage of the present demand and push sales will find in this offer an opportunity to cover the cost of attractive advertising without the usual reduction of profits.

A WORD ABOUT OURSELVES. Owing to the cordial good will extended us by booksellers everywhere, the output of our book section has doubled each year for three years past. We propose to double it again in 1900. To attain this result we shall offer even better prices, better lines, and better service than in 1899. Arrangements now perfected assure us the finest shipping facilities of any house in the United States, and our unequalled purchasing ability the best prices and the best goods.

Thanking the trade for the many past courtesies shown us, we are,

Respectfully,

THE H. B. CLAFLIN CO.,

BOOK SECTION, NEW YORK.

NOTES IN SEASON.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish next month a new novel by Mrs. Henry Dudeney, entitled "Folly Corner." They have in press a new edition of Thackeray's "English Humorists," edited with an introduction and notes by Professor William Lyon Phelps.

D. APPLETON & Co. have in preparation a historical romance by Albert Lee, entitled "The Gentleman Pensioner," the scene of which is laid in the early part of the Elizabethan period, when the plots of the partisans of Mary Stuart against Queen Elizabeth seemed to be approaching a culmination. They will shortly add to their series of Literatures of the World a volume of "Russian Literature," by R. Waliszewski.

THE AMERICAN BOOK COMPANY have just issued "A Rational Grammar of the English Language," by W. B. Powell and Louise Connelly; "First Days in School," a primer by Seth T. Stewart, Associate Superintendent of Schools of New York City, and Ida Coe of the Brooklyn primary schools; and Walter Scott's "The Talisman," edited with an introduction by Julia M. Dewey, Superintendent of Schools, North Adams, Mass., which has been added to the Eclectic School Readings.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have now ready a long line of valentines, all made at the celebrated manufactory of Ernest Nister, Nuremberg. They range in price from 70c. to $30 per hundred, and are sure to make a quick and profitable sale from any retail counter. Children's figures, comical dogs and birds, bicycle cards, every variety of floral folder and shaped novelties are provided, and cupid may send messages, gay and frivolous, tender and tragic, by means of these exquisitely colored valentines.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready an important book on the British-Boer difficulty, by Mrs. Roy Devereux, entitled "Side Lights on South Africa." The author has had most unusual opportunity for observation, having recently visited Johannesburg, Kimberley, Mafeking, and other places, and having had interviews with President Kruger, President Steyn, Sir Alfred Milner, and Cecil Rhodes. Her narrative is most vivid and thoroughly up to date, giving a clear account of South Africa as it is to-day.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have already made arrangements for the bringing out of many books early in the year. In fiction there will be "The Reign of Law," by James Lane Allen; "The Golden Horseshoe," by Stephen Bonsal; "The Bennett Twins," by Grace Marguerite Hurd; and "Mary Paget," a romance of Bermuda, by Minna Caroline Smith. "How Women May Earn a Living," by Mrs. Helen C. Candee; and "European Travel for Women," by Mary Cadwallader Jones, will appeal to a large circle of readers. Works of science and education predominate, and will be specially announced later.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have already put 200,000 copies of Paul Leicester Ford's "Janice Meredith" upon the market and the book is not yet three months old. Its record for early sale surpasses even that of "David Harum" and "Richard Carvel," which were both older before they had reached this figure. Even such record-breaking sellers as "Trilby," "Ben-Hur," "The Christian," "The Little Minister," "Prisoner of Zenda," "Looking Backward," etc., worked their way into the sixth figure at a far more leisurely rate of progress.

PERSONAL NOTES.

MR. S. S. MCCLURE was a guest of the Hotel Frascati, Havre, France, when the disastrous fire occurred on Tuesday, January 2. It was he who discovered the fire and gave the first alarm, enabling all the guests to escape uninjured.

THE management of the notion department of the H. B. Claflin Company have again put Mr. Wm. B. Perkins in entire charge of their book department. Mr. Perkins has doubled this branch of their business every year for three years and hopes for a similar result for 1900.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have secured the services of Mr. Samuel Carson as trade representative and manager of the wholesale department. Mr. Carson will visit the trade during the coming season prepared to submit samples and quote prices and terms. Any favor or courtesy shown him will be fully appreciated by the firm.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JANUARY 6, 1900.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THOUGH 1900 is the hundredth and completing year of the nineteenth century, and not the first and commencing year of the twentieth century, the good public, always eager to be up to date and even ahead of time, has already made up its mind that it is living in the twentieth century—and it is so difficult to set it right by the most scientific and conclusive reasoning that it is well after all to accept the situation and ring the door-bell of the twentieth century with the happy New Year. Bibliographically the change is forced upon the attention of the trade and readers as the figures 18 drop out of publishers' imprints, and 19 with its 00 stares us in the face. This change of imprint in fact makes a better "water-shed" in the book trade than 1901 will give, and January 1, 1900, a better dividing line than its successor of 1901.

Short of the wonderful development through the utilization of natural forces, as steam and electricity, in the nineteenth century, there is no more remarkable contrast than the condition of the book trade, and particularly of the American book trade, at the beginning of the century and at its end. Scholars are astonished at the extraordinary volume of production of books immediately after the invention of printing, when the printing presses were kept busy multiplying in permanent form the treasnres of the past, which had theretofore been accessible only in individual copies through the slow processes of hand-writing. But since that first impulse there has been no such remarkable development until, with the development of steam presses in the latter half of the present century and the corresponding development in education, books have been printed in such enormous quantities for the widest popular sale. The contrast between that first general catalogue issued in 1804 and the portly Publishers' Trade List Annual of to-day is sufficient evidence of this extraordinary development in our own country.

It is to be regretted that, particularly in the last quarter of a century, the methods of the book trade in America, in England, and elsewhere have not only failed to keep pace with book production, but have actually shown retrogression. The fact that the public library has grown to be a great and almost universal institution, within that period, does not account for the diminution of book stores and book distributing facilities in most of the smaller places, such as in the middle of the century were local centers from which influences of education and culture radiated. For libraries have probably not decreased, and have perhaps increased, the actual sale of books. The facility given by the mails for the distribution of books has partly accounted for the lack of growth, if not the diminution, of local book stores, so that in many places the "old bookseller" is no more.

But the publishing guild is itself largely to blame, as the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY has pointed out again and again with perhaps unpleasing iteration, and a word or two on this point is the most important that can be given to the trade as it faces a new period. It was made most evident, when the facts as to the great Harper house were made public, that even a house supposed to be conservative in its dealings beyond most, utterly neglected counting into the cost of its product and administration any deterioration in value of plates and stock. Most businesses write off from year to year a percentage on their stock, of whatever sort, that brings its value after a time close to the vanishing point or to that safe minimum which represents residual value. The publishing trade have not, as a rule, done this, and have not taken into their cost of production and into their prices this necessary loss in the value of their investments. Publishers have thus, as a rule, underestimated the cost of their product, while at the other end of the line they have practically, if not theoretically, reduced prices so that there is no margin of profit left for the bookseller. Fictitious prices still give the department stores, with their driving methods, a seeming advantage over the special book store, which is not fair to the latter—but the department stores can no longer be held up as the "scape-goat" of the trade because, as a matter of fact, it has been through them that such development of distributing facilities as is noteworthy in recent years, has taken place. We trust that the new century, especially with the Harper episode to teach its lesson, may not be very old before the publishing trade faces the necessity of including in the cost of a book the investment cost in plates, as well as the present cost of manufacture, and replaces a false system of prices, fictitious on some books and too cheap on others, by a sounder net system which will give fair margin of sound profit to the publisher and bookseller alike.

We are proposing to mark the present year with a number of improvements in the bibliographical system of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY and of the office in general, to which we shall hereafter recur. The period for the new volume of the American Catalogue will conclude with January 1, 1900, and we hope to issue that volume, which will close the present series, comparatively early in the new year. Thereafter it is proposed, by help of the linotype machine, to provide a system of trade bibliography which, typographically continuous, starting with the weekly record and its monthly indexes, shall be cumulative in character, the full title entries of all books being repeated not only in the Annual Catalogue, but in the five-yearly volume, with a "dictionary" index which will give clue to this full entry whether a book be sought by author, by title, by subject, or by series. We are considering also for 1900 the issue of the much-discussed Index to the Publishers' Trade-list Annual, which would be in itself a conspectus, of the most practical and useful sort, of books in print in July, 1900. It has been the purpose of this office to furnish to the American book trade a working bibliography more complete and comprehensive than the trade bibliography of any other book-producing country, and we trust that the features indicated, and others which are in plan, may bring the system fully up to date, and make it abreast of the times.

So a happy New Year and a happy new century to the American book trade, publishers and booksellers alike, and to all the gentle readers of good books!

HARPER & BROTHERS' REORGANIZATION.

As a result of its investigation, the committee representing creditors of Harper & Brothers, whose claims aggregate about one-half the total indebtedness of the company, has sent to every creditor a blank form of an agreement providing for deposit with the committee of all claims against the corporation. This is desired for the purpose of securing a reorganization and continuance of the business in the interest of the creditors.

The decision that a continuance is essential to the liquidation of unsecured indebtedness was reached after a close examination into the liabilities and assets of the company.

The requests sent out provide that the committee shall have absolute power to act for the creditors who deposit their claims with it. All other creditors must act for themselves.

The plan for the financial readjustment of the corporation's affairs will in the meantime be completed by the committee, and when formulated will be placed on file with the State Trust Company, which will issue certificates on the deposited claims. The holders of these claims will be notified immediately of the plan of reorganization, and any depositor may withdraw from the plan within ten days from the time of notification upon surrender of his trust certificate and paying his share of the committee's expenses. It is expected that the plan of reorganization will be completed by the middle of next week.

The decision of the committee is approved by G. B. M. Harvey, agent of the trustees and receiver, who expressed his belief that the company would be able to regain its feet if the business is continued under the control of the creditors' committee.

"Although the secured creditors are protected even in the event of a forced sale," said a representative of Mr. Harvey yesterday, "the unsecured creditors would in that case get but little. The estimate of 22.5 per cent. assets against the unsecured liabilities was certainly too high except for a 'going' concern. Most of the creditors are banks, and they will see from the report of the committee, which is made up of business men with an established reputation for sound judgment and solidity, that the proposed plan is the only profitable one for all concerned."

AMERICAN JEWISH HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

AT the eighth annual meeting of the American Jewish Historical Society, held at the Hebrew Charity Building, Second Avenue and Twenty-first Street, New York, on the 26th inst., the following officers were elected: President, Dr. Cyrus Adler, Washington; Vice-Presidents, Simon W. Rosendale, Albany; Mendes Cohen, Baltimore; Prof. Charles Gross, Cambridge; and Dr. B. Felsenthal, Chicago; Treasurer, Prof. Richard Gottheil, New York; Corresponding and Recording Secretaries, Herbert Friedenwald, Washington, and Prof. J. H. Hollander, Baltimore, respectively. Reports were received from the secretaries and the treasurer, showing a membership of 190, and a satisfactory financial condition.

BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATIONS.

EAST MIDDLESEX NEWSDEALERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE newsdealers of Winchester, Mass., and vicinity have formed a permanent organization under the name of the East Middlesex Newsdealers' Association. The following officers, who also comprise the Executive Committee, were elected: J. Clarence Oxley, of Reading, president; C. Fred. Read, of Arlington, vice-president; A. W. Rooney, of Winchester, secretary-treasurer. The association includes about a dozen dealers. The Executive Committee was instructed to draft a constitution for adoption at a future meeting.

OBITUARY NOTES.

PAUL JULIUS IMMERGRUN, a well-known German teacher and poet, died on Friday, December 29, at his home in Springfield, New Jersey. Mr. Immergrun came to to this country from Bremen in 1871. Many of his poems were set to music by Franz Abt.

EUGENE V. SMALLEY died at St. Paul, Minnesota, on December, 30. He was born in Randolph, Ohio, in 1841. He served in the Civil War and did newspaper corresponding from the front. For nearly ten years he was editorial writer and Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune. His contributions to many magazines and newspapers related chiefly to the development of the resources of the Northwest. His published books were: "The History of the Northern Pacific Railroad," "The History of the Republican Party," and "The Political History of Minnesota."

THOMAS MACKELLAR, senior member of the firm of Mackellar, Smith & Jordan, type founders, died of pneumonia at his home, in Germantown Pa., December 28, 1899. Mr. Mackellar, who was a printer, poet, and author, was born in New York on August 12, 1812. At the age of fourteen years he obtained employment in the office of the New York Spy and later in the publishing house of J. & J. Harper. Mr. Mackellar received the degree of doctor of philosophy from the University of Wooster, Ohio. He was the author of numerous books, poems, and hymns, his most successful venture in the literary line being "The American Printer," a treatise on practical printing.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

AMONG the other attractions for the New Year, Harper's Magazine announces Mr. Rudyard Kipling's "A Winter's Note-Book."

THE Anglo-Dutchman, the first English weekly published in Holland, has discontinued publication for the meantime, as a result of the present war, which has roused a strong anti-English feeling in Holland.

THE copyrights, title, and subscription lists of Demorest's Magazine have been acquired by Robert Bonner's Sons, who will discontinue the magazine, but will continue the Fashion and Pattern departments, Half-Minute Talks and World's Progress in their Ledger Monthly. All unexpired subscriptions of Demorest's Magazine will be filled with the Ledger Monthly.

THE will of Daniel Sharpe Ford, late proprietor of the Youth's Companion, has been filed for probate. In it Mr. Ford had expressed his desire that a corporation should be formed to continue the publication of the Youth's Companion, and that those who have been associated with him as his partners should have an opportunity to buy stock. The matter is left with the executors.

Appleton's Popular Science Monthly with its January issue lowers its price to 25 c. and makes provision for an even higher standard of quality. The scope of the magazine will be enlarged, and it will thus appeal to a wider circle of readers. Facts and principles that apply directly to the concerns of every-day life are to have special attention. The names of the distinguished specialists who are to contribute are a guarantee of accuracy and authority.

The Atlantic Monthly has made far-reaching plans for 1900, and the little pamphlet announcing them gives promise of contributions of greater variety and more permanent interest than ever before. No pictures have as yet found their way into the Atlantic, consequently it can keep up a standard of proportion made impossible when art and literature contend for precedence as they do in so many of our magazines. Literature, political problems, and poetry are to receive special attention.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

WILLIAM LE QUEUX has finished his new novel, entitled "In White Raiment."

ANTHONY HOPE'S new novel will be entitled "Tristram of Blent." The scene is laid in England.

A. CONAN DOYLE has volunteered for military service in South Africa, and has promised to provide his own horses and accoutrements.

DURING the intervals of work upon his new story Mark Twain is writing his signature in six hundred copies of the new London edition of his books.

MR. JOEL CHANDLER HARRIS is reported to be hard at work upon an historical romance, the period treated being that of the American Revolution.

LADY RANDOLPH CHURCHILL is en route for South Africa, and it is said that the Anglo-Saxon, in forthcoming numbers, will bear witness to her presence there.

F. MARION CRAWFORD expects soon to finish a book on "The Rulers of the South," a companion volume to "Ave Roma Immortalis," which will treat of Italy south of the Papal states.

COL. RICHARD HENRY SAVAGE has just put a new novel into the hands of Rand, McNally & Co. The scene is Rome, the characters are American, and the book is pronounced among the author's best.

PROF. G. MASPERO, the famous Egyptologist, is having the third work in his Egyptian trilogy translated from the French. It will be entitled "The Passing of the Empires." The series is edited by Rev. A. H. Sayce, professor of Assyriology at Oxford, and is published by D. Appleton & Co.

OWNERS of the original edition of Stebbing's "Life of Sir Walter Raleigh" can obtain in pamphlet form the list of authorities and corrigenda appearing in the new and popular reissue of the biography, on application to the Oxford University Press, (American Branch,) 93 Fifth Avenue, New York.

FRANK NORRIS, the author of "McTeague," is at work upon a novel trilogy the subject of which is wheat. The first novel will deal with the Producer, the scene being California; the second with the Distributor, the scene being Chicago; and the third with the Consumer, the scene being England.

COL. R. J. HINTON expects to issue his new "Richard Realf" volume early in 1900. The book will be published by the Literary Life Publishing Co., of Norwalk, Ohio. The Roycroft shop will print the "Little Journey," furnished by Col. Hinton to the Saturday Review of December 9, in a booklet de luxe. The remarkable war letters of Richard Realf will be a feature of the forthcoming work.

THE almost identical bibliographical enterprises of George F. Danforth, librarian of Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana, and H. W. Wilson, Minneapolis, proprietor of the "Cumulative Book Index," described in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY of November 11, are now to be amalgamated, and will appear under the title "The United States Catalogue: Books in Print, 1899." The time necessary for comparing the material prepared separately will materially detain the publication until some time in the spring. The work will be published independently from both offices, each editor providing for his own advance subscriptions.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT CO. have just ready "Pike and Cutlass," a series of hero tales of the United States Navy, by George Gibbs, with illustrations by the author.

GINN & CO. have just published "A Literary Map of England," prepared by William Lyon Phelps, assistant professor of English Literature at Yale. The map is printed in colors on cardboard, 8 x 10½ inches, and is intended to assist students to mentally locate towns having literary associations.

A FEW months ago a London paper announced the discovery of two manuscript stories, hitherto unpublished, of the elder Dumas. Since their publication in book form it has been found that they had already formed part of the collected French edition, so that this supposed literary discovery proves to be of no moment at all.

THE PUBLISHERS' PLATE RENTING CO., New York City, have acquired the electrotype and stereotype plates formerly belonging to the American Publishers' Corporation, and are now prepared to make contracts for editions to be printed from these plates. Publishers desiring to rent any of these plates should communicate with the office, where every effort will be made to meet their views. A new catalogue is now being prepared.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have nearly ready the second volume of "The History of Trinity Parish," by Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix. They will add to their series of Heroes of the Reformation a volume containing the biographies of Balthasar Hubmaier, the theologian of the Baptist party in Germany and Switzerland, by the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Vedder, and of Faustus Socinus, the theologian of the Unitarian party in Reformation times, by Rev. Alexander Gordon.

IN accord with the expressed desire of the late Dwight L. Moody, his biography is to be prepared by his elder son, William Revell Moody. For some years past material for this purpose has been gathered, but the son requests that friends having correspondence or other items of special interest will communicate with him at East Northfield, Mass. It is understood the work will appear as promptly as is consistent with the careful editing of the vast amount of material in hand.

DOUBLEDAY, MCCLURE & CO. will publish on the 25th inst. an elaborate and intimate study of the Avon poet, by Prof. Goldwin Smith, entitled "Shakespeare, the Man." The work is said to be full of sympathetic literary appreciation and insight, and is intended not for the Shakespearean student but for the ordinary reader. They will publish shortly a new novel by Frank Norris, entitled "A Man's Woman;" also, Ida M. Tarbell's "Life of Abraham Lincoln," the material for which is largely drawn from special sources.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish on the 16th inst. "Thackeray's Unidentified Contributions to Punch," compiled by M. H. Spielmann, which will contain between thirty and forty of the great novelist's contributions to the English comic weekly; also "Shirley" and "Villette," in the Haworth edition of the "Life and Works of the Brontë Sisters," with preface by Mrs. Humphry Ward. They will publish shortly a collection of short stories by Thomas A. Janvier, which will include "The Passing of Thomas," "In the St. Peter's Set," and "The Fish of M. Quissard;" also a new astronomical romance by Garrett Serviss, entitled "The Moon Metal."

FRANCIS P. HARPER, publisher, New York, has in press a valuable reference work for all interested in early New York. It is a complete "Historical Index to the Manuals of the Corporation of the City of New York," better known as "Valentine's Manuals." For a number of years the editor of the forthcoming volume, who modestly hides his identity under the initials of "O. H.," has been a close student of the early history of the city, and found the Manuals valuable and most useful guides. His index consists of two thousand three hundred and twenty-five references. Heretofore this set has been the despair of all students. In the twenty-eight volumes which were issued from 1841 to 1870 the historical matter is distributed without regard to system, just as it happened to come into the hands of the printer, and to add to the confusion the illustrations are often in one volume while the descriptions are in another. The above index will prove of value not only to owners of complete sets of the "Manuals," but to those having a few of the later and commoner ones, as most of the historical matter is in the volumes running from 1850 to 1870. The articles are of the highest historical interest, such as Baptisms in the Dutch Church prior to 1697 and up to 1720; History of Wall Street, Broadway, Maiden Lane, Carriages in New Amsterdam, Dances in the Olden Time, Early Punishments, Old Graveyards of New Amsterdam, Benj. R. Winthrop's Reminiscences of Old New York, Street Cries in 1806, Origin and Changes of Street Names, etc., etc. Only 250 copies will be printed, most of which have been subscribed for in advance.

By a disastrous fire which broke out in the centre of the new publishing district of the west end of London, some of our Boston publishers and binders have had an unexpected call on their resources, and at least one Boston publishing house has had to put forth special exertions to replace the stock that was destroyed. The fire took place on the night of the 8th of December, in the building occupied by Wm. Isbister & Co. In it are the offices of the Contemporary Review, Good Words, and Good Words for the Young, and there were also several thousand dollars' worth of books bearing the imprint of D. C. Heath & Co., of Boston, for whom Messrs. Isbister & Co. act as London agents. The fire threatened to be a large one and at one time the famous Exeter Hall, the temple in which London's great meetings of dissenters and social and moral reformers have been held for many years, was in danger. Happily this was averted. The fire occurred just when the stock of American educational books was heaviest, in readiness for the demands made on the re-opening of the schools after the Christmas vacation. The Modern Language Text-books published by D. C. Heath & Co. have a great and increasing vogue among English educators, and they as well as many other of the publications of this house, are in use in many of the important educational establishments on the other side. Within twenty-four hours after the receipt of the news of the fire, by dint of putting on the whole force of their staff, D. C. Heath & Co. succeeded in getting a large shipment ready, but the scarcity of the ships plying between America and England, on account of the present war in South Africa, created a new difficulty and the goods have had to wait for the ship Winifredian, which will go freighted with the results of American scholarship to help the educators of Old England.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Boston, Mass.—Little, Brown & Co. succeeded in getting their store rebuilt and in shape before the holiday rush began. The renovation took in the ground floor and the first flight up, both of which were entirely rebuilt. The effect is surprising, and the store may now take rank among the handsomest retail bookstores in the country. The salesroom with its oak furniture and added light, not forgetting its wealth of literary treasures, is attractive and inviting to booklovers. ## BOOKBINDING FOR PUBLISHERS

IT is easy enough to solicit and obtain business when you can offer low prices. But it is necessary to have something besides low prices. A good reputation, good work and the ability to live up to contracts are some of these qualifications. There are many bookbinders who will take work for a low price and then cheapen the binding and delay the work because they have not the facilities of turning it out, thus defrauding the publishers.

In my new place of business, in the building at the corner of Centre and Leonard Streets, where I have a floor space of over 40,000 square feet, filled with the very latest and most modern machinery, such as automatic cutting and trimming machines, rapid quadruple folding machines, new model Smyth sewing machines, the most powerful smashing machines, the very latest improved Crawley rounding and backing machines, Smyth bookcase machines, and the very finest stamping department in this city, all run by my own electric plant, also a very extensive marbling and edge gilding department, managed by the most skilled mechanics. My capacity is over 15,000 cloth bound books per day, and I can do the best work at the lowest prices. I can safely say that I can save publishers who have large editions to be bound from 10 to 20 per cent. on all bindings. I am now ready to make arrangements for bindings for the year 1900.

This is not a plant run by capitalists, or any other moneyed trust or syndicate as a venture, but a well-appointed bindery, managed by a practical man who has made a life study of bookbinding, and has risen from apprenticeship to ownership.

The Sale of Novels

NEVER before, perhaps, in the history of this country has it been possible to reach with a popular novel such tremendous figures of circulation. The quantity of cheap magazines has apparently created an army of new readers, and a successful book to-day is probably more widely circulated than at any time in the history of this country. The notable books in point of circulation to-day are: "David Harum," "Richard Carvel," and "Janice Meredith."

The surprising number of 400,000 was reached by "David Harum" in a little over a year. "Richard Carvel" in seven months reached about 300,000, but perhaps the most remarkable record is that of "Janice Meredith," which in three months has reached 200,000 copies.

Three months after publication "David Harum" had hardly been recognized at all, while of "Richard Carvel" about 100,000 had been announced in that space of time. It is probably the case that the record of "Janice Meredith" (200,000 in three months) is the most remarkable one achieved in this country by any novel during the past generation, not even excepting such remarkable "sellers" as "Trilby," "Ben-Hur," "The Choir Invisible," "Little Lord Fauntleroy," "Robert Elsmere," "The Prisoner of Zenda," "Quo Vadis," "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush," "The Little Minister," "The Christian," and "Looking Backward."
